Don't cry. Don't pout... the jolly one's watching. Rovaniemi, Finland, is a town dedicated to Santa Claus with the jolly one's village at its heart. This is a place for children. A ground zero for Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer, not terrorism. But for Christmas this year a madman wants to give an unspeakable biological weapon to re-engineer the world's children. Konrad Loki is a charismatic professor with a book of unfathomable secrets. Ruut Stark, his former student turned military police, can't even hug her teenage son. Can this pair survive long enough to stop the unstoppable? A sci-fi terrorism thriller set in Santa's village in Lapland. A 400-year old book bound by human skin and mysteries. A biological weapon poised to infect the world's children. Be good. The 'Antler Plan' is coming to town... Book one in the Konrad Loki Thriller Series.
