Fate intervenes when they least expect... Emily is still struggling to come to terms with her tragic loss two years on. Her entire being has been taken hostage by the poppy fields.

The only place that reminds her she was once truly happy. James a military physiotherapist for the British Army has thrown himself into his work avoiding love at all costs. With several tours to Afghanistan under his belt he is fighting his demons daily. The loss of his unit during his last tour always at the forefront of his mind, until one day his eyes lock with the most beautiful and fragile woman he'd ever seen. From that day forth his life is changed forever. .
