

The Magic of Love

Published:	November 8th 2014 by Roger D. Grubbs
Author:	Roger D. Grubbs
Genre:	Romance
Pages:	285
Language	English
Goodreads Rating:	5.00
ASIN	B00PE944FO

The Magic of Love.pdf

The Magic of Love.epub

A simple dance between a young boy and girl grows into much more.

At a school gala, Cupid has drawn back the bow and sent it's arrow through the hearts of the two unsuspecting youngsters. For a girl of nine, this was magic; and she was a fairy princess at a glamorous ball. Fast forward to Charity Lane's eighteenth birthday; and we find the couple still together, planning their future. Inseparable as friends with a hint of romance in the beginning, this union had evolved into a steamy relationship, one the young lady was determined to not let get out of hand, at least until they were married. Shortly after graduation, Charity Lane was in for another big surprise, one Jimmy Parker, her boyfriend, encouraged. Unaware of how talented she really was, Charity finally agreed to perform in local concerts.

After all, she loved music, the money was good, and this would help pay for college. So, why not? Surprisingly, this was only the beginning of a roller coaster ride of drama that sent both her career and love life spiraling out of control. Yet, her mother, Susan was her rock and comfort throughout all the turmoil. She too was a talented singer in her youth, but had given up her music to raise a family. Now she was determined to help her daughter fulfill her dreams because she still believed in The Magic of Love!