Ron Hewlett has been a cop for years but still believes in the basic good of mankind. When a murder occurs at the local Fraternity house and everyone seems guilty yet no one is talking, Ron's opinion begins to change. Samantha MacKenzie is a professor at NYU, determined to make her way in a man's world yet hiding a secret that could destroy her. When she and Ron meet, sparks fly and an attraction builds, but what she holds back could mean more than just a ruined relationship. It could mean both their lives.
