This is a very short romance. "I ran. I don't know where I found the strength. For someone who had never left the bright lights of the big city, the darkness that surrounded me was a nightmare. There were no pathways, only jungle wilderness more isolated and untouched than any jungle on Earth. I had been abducted from Earth and dropped on this barely inhabited planet because I was genetically compatible to the indigenous population according to the aliens who had brought me here. I was told very little more than that.

Only that I and a few other abducted Earth women were being scattered at various points far from each other. That we were rewards of some kind as part of a debt owed to the inhabitants. That if we survived, our sole purpose was to be bred for repopulation of the planet." This story is intended for adult audiences only. All characters involved in sexual situations are 18 years of age or older.
