Book one in the Enchanted Lovers Series Mira has only five days to lose her virginity, or face certain death...and only one man is up for the job. Shunned by her Kingdom because she's been given the gift of healing over fire, Mira anxiously awaits her freedom. All she has to do is complete her Rite of Passage and pass the auspicious Ritual of Sisterhood. There's just one catch. If she doesn't lose her virginity before the Ritual begins, she'll die. And just her luck, none of the Kingdom's tutors will touch her. Hoping to ensure failure, Mira's been given a tutor with a curse of his own. Hailing from Garinth, Keegan's plagued with a serious problem.

His body only reacts to women who possess certain qualities. So when he wakes to find himself imprisoned in a Kingdom ruled by witches, he can't imagine how any of them measure up.

But then, he never counted on Mira, or the way his body comes to life, filling his head with delicious images of seduction. He'd love nothing more than to tame this pretty little witch, but can he claim her before their time runs out?
