As an injured stray, the idea of recuperating in hot chef Natalie Richards' apartment suits "Fella" just fine—because he knows this whole four-legs-and-a-tail thing isn't quite right. Unfortunately, a sketchy memory and blinding headaches aren't his biggest problems.

Fella can't help the feeling he's connected to the break-ins and attacks plaguing Natalie's restaurant, and when a serial killer goes after local women, he knows he needs to regain human form if he's going to keep Natalie alive.
