The Crew is back and, didn't come to play nice. Jasmine wakes up in the same hospital her mother was taken to but when she stares into the face of Trench she feels something she never felt before and, that's hate! Her unwillingness to hear him out causes her to drive him away. Will she push him away to the point where he is through with her forever? Trench Is finding it hard to keep trying to hold onto someone who doesn't want to be kept. With the DEA agent still sniffing around his door trying to have him put away for life.

Will he still have the strength and willingness to go for the main enemy Emma? Carter is showing his face more and more in this sequel, with him being Trenches right hand man and him meeting a sexy female name Trinity will he be able to keep focus and help take down the task at hand? Emma is back and she did not come to play nice, with three newly hired bodyguards backing up all her evil deeds will she be able to be touch or will something drastic happen to make her change her evil ways?
