A Stitch in Time, like an old New England patchwork quilt, is pieced together from journals, photographs, histories, interviews and memorabilia, to evoke the lives and acts of the people of Townshend, Vermont, over 250 years—people both famous and obscure. Profusely illustrated, it includes full source notes and bibliography, and appendices on Townshend in the military and on early landowners. A Stitch in Time received the 2004 Award of Excellence, Publication Achievement, from the US League of Local Historical Societies.
